Best Wrist-Numbing Speed-Clicking Cosmic Horror Story 2017. This is a great new type of simulated board game. You really have to think about upcoming movement, as in chess. It's a different and fun take on 2 player competitive gaming.. I got Copoka as part of a Humble Monthly a long time ago, and went in not sure what to expect. Copoka trailers show exactly what you get, you play the role of a bird that collects objects for it's nest, flying around in a big open town and playing no role in the random conversations you hear from bystanders except listening. It's a pretty straightforward game and not very long to 100%, but I will say that I found it to be unexplainably relaxing in a way. They do suggest you use a controller for this game, but I got through just fine with a keyboard. There is no mouse support however, which is a disappointing miss since I really would have loved this game more with a mouse to control flying.

I would recommend this to those looking for something to kick back with and take it easy on.. This game was just utterly cat tastic. From kitty kart, to flying feline..... I just simply couldnt get enough of this furball out of my brain. The apples in challenge mode were like catnip.... The rings were just like a scratch post... I truly want to thank te developers for releasing my inner crazy cat person within such a colorful enjoyable game.

Den V den. Not as stunning as the 3rd part, but still very good game. I'm so disapointed that the series ends on this one.. A very fun SeriousSam esque Rouge-like bullethell, with many types of weapons & enemies

It may not seem like it, but it is a certain test of skill in the aspects of health, firepower, speed, supplies, and navigation of the enviroment

Most players will have to throw themselves into fray time after time, getting oh so close to completion, but still oh so far from it This cakewalk has many candles for such a young age

Very fun game, that I can't help but love

As it is in development, I hope it grows into a minagary of beautiful pain that can make all players just hurt so good boostmaister,

olofmaister.. This is a very good adaptation of the board version. In my opinion its really well spent money.. decent for trading cards. Brilliant and simple dungeon crawler. Not too long, but well worth it and leaves you wanting more. Haven't enjoyed a crawler this much since legend of grimrock 2. Bravo to the developer!. The camera angles are sometimes horrendous, the controls sometimes drive you mad, the odd level makes you want to put your controller through the screen. Absolutely stunning. Best game I've played through in ages. Feels like a Gamecube game that never got a release. Love it.. This is a classic. For over 20 years I have been playing this game. Its like chess.

Very easy to understand, difficult to master.

10V10 greatest RTS of all time. Have been long anticipating this release as I do know personally the small team that has been behind it's development. First of all can I say a big well done on coming this far and persevering with this project, it's always refreshing to see new ideas come to the table and indie developers giving their spin on story telling or just pure gameplay at its core.

Into Blue Valley shows off one hell of a creative landscape and perspective which will have you building up your own suspense and in some cases have your eyes playing tricks on you. The atmoshpere is completely hammered home through its fantastic soundtrack to really give that lost wanderer feel.

The story is text based so prepare to read a little but manages to cover different styles of writing that you'd probaly find lying around... It is not a film award winning script but manages to do the job.

Honestly don't expect the longest amount of gameplay from Into Blue Valley however do keep in mind that this is a first for the developer (that consists of one coder might I add!) and that the magic is really in taking it in a slow pace allowing yourself to immerse a little! This immersion will be pushed a little further by an Oculus Rift version (free of charge) which is a bonus that I'd be willing to try out and does help to justify the game's price. I really will be trying this to see if my eyes end up tricking me even more.

Overall a good effort and would be interested in seeing where the developers go in the future.
